Printed Matters: Raise the Level

'Raise the Level is a body of work largely focused on the need to address the health of our planet. The phrase "raise the level" references several things, including the need to raise the level of awareness about the consequences of fossil fuels and climate change, the fact that global warming raises the level of the oceans and that we need to raise the level of action taken to save earth from environmental disaster. Raise the Level also addresses other urgent issues facing humanity, such as nationalism, xenophobia, war, disinformation, and the weakening of democracy.

I use relatable symbols, portraits, and text in my art to appeal emotionally to the viewer and draw them into a conversation about the topics in the work. I hope the audience viewing my art comes away with inspiration to pay attention to these issues and motivation to act. Apathy is largely fuelled by dread and feelings of powerlessness, but I hope my work seeds the idea that art can be a galvanizing and joyful form of communication and activism that shapes culture in both bold and subtle ways.' / Shepard Fairey

Shepard Fairey

Shepard Fairey (American, born February 15, 1970) is a street artist, muralist, and graphic designer known for his influential work at the intersection of art and activism. From his early days in the rebellious 1990s, Fairey's iconic "Andre the Giant Has a Posse" sticker marked the beginning of a very long and storied journey as an artist.

One of Fairey's most famous works is the 2008 "Hope" poster, which became closely associated with Barack Obama's presidential campaign. This image showcases Fairey's ability to merge art and activism, reflecting his dedication to social justice and progressive values. Throughout his career, Fairey has used his art as a platform to initiate conversations and raise awareness on various important issues, including war, social movements, gun control, and environmental protection.

With his distinctive artistic style, unwavering commitment to activism, and dedication to using art as a force for social change, Shepard Fairey continues to make a significant impact on the art world and beyond.

Curator Statement

'It is an incredible honor to work with an artist who left such an indelible mark on my own punk rock & skate culture youth. But way beyond the personal significance, as a curator I recognize the profound impact of hosting this Shepard Fairey solo exhibition at STRAAT.

It brings undeniable prestige to our museum, elevating our standing within the art world. We are showcasing the work of one of the foremost artists in our culture, and placing Amsterdam and STRAAT at the heart of contemporary art discourse. We are very proud.

Printed Matters: Raise The Level, is an opportunity for us, as an institution and as a community, to acknowledge and appreciate the impact of a heroic artistic journey. By sharing this show with Amsterdam and the world, we hope to inspire, uplift, and empower others to embrace their artistic passions and make their mark on the world.' / Hyland Mather, STRAAT Gallery Curator

FAQs

What is an HPM (Hand Painted Multiple)?

An HPM, short for Hand Painted Multiple, refers to a limited edition of prints wherein each individual print is unique, despite being based on a common main image shared among all prints. These prints are produced in very low editions, and each one showcases distinctive variations in background and detailing, often with added unique collage components as well. Thus, even within a small edition, every artwork stands as a unique creation.

Are the Mixed Media pieces original works?

Yes, the Mixed Media pieces are indeed original unique works, unless specified otherwise with an edition number. Shepard Fairey employs a unique visual language that draws inspiration from his rich artistic history. As a result, some elements might appear in multiple original works, which contributes to the iconic and cohesive nature of his art. Each Mixed Media artwork, however, stands as an individual and distinct creation.

What are the Shipping Costs?

The shipping costs from STRAAT to destinations worldwide depend on the weight and size of the artworks. Generally, for most destinations, works from this catalog are priced between €100 to €250. If you receive your invoice as a payment link, the shipping cost will be included in the total amount. On the other hand, if you checkout via our secure web portal, shipping costs will be added during the checkout process, along with any applicable special discounts.

STRAAT

Can I buy multiple works?

Certainly! You are welcome to purchase multiple works. However, please note that for orders of more than 2 works to be delivered to one location, we require payment through a payment link or bank transfer. This serves two important purposes: Establishing a First Come, First Serve Policy and Optimizing Shipping Rates.

Will I Receive a COA with My Purchase?

Yes, when you purchase Shepard Fairey artworks, you'll receive a Certificate of Authenticity (COA). The artist uses a secure blockchain-verified system through Verisart to ensure authenticity. After the exhibition, you'll get your COA from Obey Giant in a blockchain-created digital file. You also have the option to upgrade through the Verisart dashboard and receive a physical document with a QR code linked to the verifiable record. All Shepard COAs from 2016 onward are conveniently tracked on Verisart's dashboard, providing a clear provenance history.

Are the works signed by the artist?

Absolutely, all of the works are personally signed and dated by Shepard Fairey. In the majority of cases, you will find Shepard's signature on the bottom right-hand side of the artwork. However, in certain special cases, the signature may appear in a different location, and occasionally, it might be found en verso (on the back) of the artwork.
